

A Parliamentary lecture organised by the Council for Education in the Commonwealth

Peace, Progress and Challenge

Nigeria's Education 1960–2010

Keynote Gladwyn Lecture delivered by:

Dr Nosa Aladeselu

Executive Director, African Women's Empowerment
Guild, Nigeria

Discussion led by:

Prof Michael Omolewa

former Nigerian Ambassador to UNESCO

Chaired by:

Rt Hon David Lammy, MP

About the Gladwyn lecture

Fifty years on from Nigerian independence, this lecture looks at the achievements and challenges of Nigerian education. It is open to all interested in Commonwealth education. Entrance is with this invitation.

The Council for Education in the Commonwealth is a Commonwealth-accredited NGO that promotes education in Commonwealth countries. Lord Gladwyn was a patron, and this lecture is held in his honour.

Meeting details

- ◆ Wednesday 8th December 2010
- ◆ 5.30–7 pm
- ◆ The Boothroyd Room, Portcullis House, Palace of Westminster
- ◆ Entrance to Portcullis House is via Victoria Embankment

Kindly sponsored by:

The Britain-Nigeria Educational Trust

The Consortium for Research on Educational Access, Transitions and
Equity, Institute of Education,
London and University of Sussex

