

Make the most of your Scholarship in 2021

We understand that connecting with fellow Scholars will be more challenging than usual this year, and new ways of finding and making links with others may be necessary before you get to meet them in person.

There are still many activities taking place and ways in which you can connect with fellow Scholars as part of our usual CSC engagement programme and beyond. With this in mind, we've summarised ways in which the CSC can help you connect virtually with Scholars at your university, in your region, in the UK and abroad below. If you have any queries about the below activities, then email engage@cscuk.org.uk and we would be delighted to assist.

1 Join our foundation FutureLearn course

Join our foundation FutureLearn course on 'Understanding Development Impact', introduce yourself and your studies in the comments, encourage others and discuss key development issues with other Scholars.

2 Development Training Programme

Sign up and attend workshops as part of our Development Training Programme. You will have the chance to receive a certificate when you send us your learning portfolio.

3 Join a Facebook group

Join the Facebook group for your cohort and your UK Regional Group to meet and get chatting to fellow Scholars, and learn of fun opportunities happening for your region.

4 Attend a Regional event

Sign up for and attend a Regional event where you can introduce yourself to your friendly Regional Network Coordinator who can give you more details of your region and relevant activities.

5 Attend a Friday welfare drop-in

Attend a Friday welfare drop-in with CSC staff: check your emails for Zoom details of the next event.

6 Attend a site visit

Attend one of our forthcoming university site visits: a chance to meet your Programme Officer and other Scholars at your university.

7 Attend a large CSC event

Attend large CSC events such as Welcome (our next event for new PhD and Split-site Scholars is currently planned for March – more details coming soon!)

8 Join a Knowledge Hub

Join a Knowledge Hub relevant to your studies to add your expert thoughts and discuss current issues under a specific development theme.
